Two of Faculty Suspended for Printed Charges

Dr. Keller and Mr. Loomis Suspended for Ten Days for Charges Made in Kansas City Paper—President Lamkin Denies Charges in Statement At Assembly.

As a result of statements attributed to Dr. Keller and Mr. Loomis appearing in last week's Kansas City Journal-Post charging credit irregularities, these two faculty members were suspended by the Board of Regents in formal session Wednesday, July 14.

The Board will meet Tuesday, July 27 to give these men an opportunity to defend themselves against the charges.

The Regents charge these faculty members with disloyalty to the College and the circulation of false and defamatory statements, calculated to injure the good name and standing of the College by charging that unearned and unmerited credits had been issued.

If Dr. Keller and Mr. Loomis are acquitted by the Board July 27 they will be reinstated on the faculty and if they are found guilty they will be dismissed. Both men resigned in April to take positions elsewhere at increased salaries. There resignations were to be effective September 1.

The following statement was read by President Lamkin at assembly last week:

"In the morning edition of the Kansas City Journal-Post under the date of July 13th there appeared an article concerning the Northwest Missouri Teachers College which can not go unchallenged. No notice need be taken of rumors which may or may not have some foundation in fact, but when a newspaper, citing faculty members as its authority, publishes a story which will injure the reputation of a school established and maintained by the people of the state, and which will jeopardize the scholastic standing of thousands of students who have made sacrifices to get an education, silence is no longer golden and patience ceases to be virtue.

"In the paper referred to it was stated that charges had been made that the college had granted diplomas to students who had not earned sufficient credit. Six instances were cited and two faculty members, Fred Keller and Burt W. Loomis, both in the education department and both of whom resigned several weeks before the annual meeting of the Board, were given as the authority of the Journal-Post in making the statement.

The Gardner Case

"The first instance alleged was that of Chas. R. Gardner. Dr. Keller is quoted by the paper to have said that he had been granted a diploma without sufficient credit and without the approval of the faculty committee.

"The records show that Mr. Gardner made sixteen units of high school work at the academy of a standard college—and that he presented for his degree 12 1/4 hours of standard college credit, of which 12 1/4 hours were made in the Teachers College at Warrensburg and 12 1/4 hours made at the college at Maryville. Under the provisions of an agreement of the Missouri Conference of Educational Institutions in effect at the time, residence credit in the Warrensburg college was accepted as residence credit at Maryville for bona fide residents of the Maryville district, in which Mr. Gardner lived. As for the approval of the faculty, the names of persons recommended for degrees in the spring and summer of 1923 were presented to the faculty on May 10, 1923. The records in the Presidents' office show that on that date the college was used by Dr. Keller to go to Ravenwood to deliver a commencement address, which perhaps accounts for his absence from faculty meeting that day as shown by the minutes. At a conference held the morning of July 13, 1926, Dr. Keller stated that Mr. Gardner had talked to him in regard to acceptance of work in the department of education. The facts are that Mr. Gardner was granted the Degree of Bachelor of Arts for which no work in education is required and for which only Psychology and History of Education are accepted from that department. Neither of these subjects were presented by Mr. Gardner for credit.

Mrs. Francisco Not Graduated

"The second instance cited was that of Mrs. Matilda Francisco, a sister-in-law of the President of the College. The paper quotes Dr. Keller as saying, she was ill for two weeks prior to her graduation and was given her diploma at the instance of Mr. Lamkin. Mrs. Francisco received neither certificate nor diploma from the institution. The records show she made a total of 10 1/4 hours of credit in two terms of attendance. In the conference above referred to, Dr. Keller stated she was present eight weeks of the term, that she left college because of illness and that at the request of the President he went to the office of the registrar and gave her credit for the work done during the time she was here. The fact is Mrs. Francisco did leave the college on account of the illness which resulted in her death. It is also true that students who become ill during the last few weeks of a term are properly protected and do not necessarily lose all credits because of such illness. The privilege which is granted to others should not be denied one who happens to be related to the President.

"The third instance cited was that of A. H. Cooper. No question seems to be raised about Mr. Cooper having done 7 1/2 hours of work in agriculture. No question is raised as to its taking three terms, at least four times a week for twelve weeks each term. No question is raised as to its being done at the college, in college classrooms, laboratory and shops, in close co-operation with regular members of the college faculty. As it was individual work the only question was whether or not it should have been counted as 'extension' or 'residence' work. The paper quotes Dr. Keller as saying 'by order of Mr. Lamkin credit was made residence credit so that Mr. Cooper might use it for entrance to Harvard University.' The minutes of the faculty council show that on Monday, September 21, 1925 all of the seventeen members, including Dr. Keller, being present, Mr. Kinnaird, chairman of the department of agriculture, moved that the work done by Mr. Cooper be certified to the registrar as residence credit and the minutes show no opposition to the motion which was carried.

"The Journal-Post quotes Mr. Loomis as authority for the statement that: 'Mrs. O. E. Parthe was granted a diploma in 1924 when she lacked several hours work. She later entered Harvard University.' The records show that Mrs. Parthe presented fifteen units of high school credit from Harlan, Ia., and 64 hours of college work from George Washington University of Washington. Students from 40 Counties and 10 States Here Now

Statistics Compiled Show Harrison County Leads All Others Except Nodaway—260 Here for First Time.

Twelve hundred and four students, representing nineteen counties in Northwest Missouri, twenty-one counties in other parts of the state, and ten outside states, are now enrolled in College here, according to figures just compiled by Mr. Seelman in the department of information. Two hundred and sixty-nine students are attending schools here this year for the first time. Seventy-seven students outside the district are enrolled here.

Iowa leads the other states in enrollment with twenty-six students. The other states represented are: Colorado, Illinois, Kansas, Michigan, Nebraska, New Mexico, Oklahoma, South Dakota and Wyoming.

Outside of Nodaway County, Harrison ranks first with 75 students here this summer. Gentry County ranked second with 68 and Buchanan County is third with 65. The enrollment from the counties in the district is as follows:

Nodaway, 335; Harrison, 75; Gentry, 68; Buchanan, 65; Daviess, 56; Worth, 55; Andrew, 51; Atchison, 50; Holt, 47; Dekalb, 45; Grundy, 28; Clinton, 28; Livingston, 21; Caldwell, 18; Clay, 14; Carroll, 13; Mercer, 10; Platte, 10; and Ray, 7. There are 42 students enrolled whose homes are outside of the state and 35 students whose homes are outside of the district.

The Methodists lead in the church affiliations of the summer students with 351. The Christians rank next with 331. One hundred and nineteen students did not give any religious affiliations on their cards. Memberships in eighteen churches are recorded on the enrollment cards. There are 123 Baptists in school, 79 Presbyterians, and 55 Catholics. Other churches represented are: Church of Christ, Lutheran, Episcopal, Church of God, Congregational, Brethren, Evangelical, Latter Day Saints, Christian Scientist, Nazarene, and First Reformed.

Swimming Pool Is Popular Place Now

Many of the college students and the town people are taking advantage of the College pool as a relief from the hot weather. The pool is open to the students on Monday and Wednesday nights, free of charge, while it is open to the town people on Tuesday and Thursday nights, with a small admission fee charged. The evening hours of the pool are from 7:30 to 9:00 p. m. with the lights blinking as a warning to clear the pool at 8:45. The building must be emptied by 9:00. Mrs. Myrtle Quinlan is the regular chaperone and Leon Wilson is the life guard on duty.

There is as much fun for the spectators as there is for the swimmers. Everyone is happy, even the the showers of water, that are splashed on the sides of the pool, reach the clothes of the spectators, it does not dampen the spirit that everyone possesses.

In the shallow part of the pool a group of girls enjoy themselves by playing keep away or water polo, while in the little deeper water there are a few swimming here and there, trying to catch and duck some friend, who is striving hard to avoid being the victim. In the deeper water one sees more expert swimmers and a few who are learning to dive.

A spectator hears a loud noise and feels a spray of water, and he knows that someone will try the stunt a little differently next time. Then one will see the graceful lines of a diver, who leaves no noise or no splash of water as he glides into the pool. It is always an evening of fun.

Men Take Courses In Household Arts

Universities throughout the country are establishing a household arts class for men students. It is maintained there is a demand for it. It is now possible for men students to take a year's course in food selection for house managers, camp cookery, elementary food economics and household management. In camp cookery, courses it is difficult to accommodate all the men who want to take them. St. Louis Globe Democrat.

"Mother Joy" Is Taken to Hospital

Gordon "Mother" Joy was taken to the St. Francis Hospital early Tuesday morning, where he is resting after a severe attack of appendicitis. "Mother" was complaining Monday of not feeling well, and was worse Monday night. He is being closely observed in order to see whether or not an operation will be necessary.

S.T.C. Has 20th Birthday; 300 Here First Term

St. Joseph News-Press Carries Story of History of College—First Classes in High School Building.

The present summer session of our College marks its twentieth year of service in education in Northwest Missouri. The following article which appeared in last week's St. Joseph News-Press, was written by Townsend Godsey, a former student.

The Northwest Missouri State Teachers' College here, now in its regular summer session, has entered on its twenty-first year of existence. The college, started June 13, 1906, with an enrollment of 300 students, who first met in the Central School building at this place, now has an attendance of more than 1,000 students meeting or living in several fine buildings on the campus.

Although the twentieth birthday of the school has just passed, no special celebration or anniversary has been celebrated, and very few of the students are aware that their college has passed its second decade mark.

Created in 1905

The history of the college here started March 25, 1905, when Governor Joseph W. Folk signed a bill creating out of the nineteen counties hitherto belonging to the First District the new normal school district No. 5. Some weeks later Governor Folk appointed O. C. Fogel of Lancaster, Edmund McWilliams of Plattsburg, C. A. Calverd of Clinton, J. W. Fox, of Monroe City, and J. O. Jones of Columbia as members of a commission to select the site for the proposed school. Maryville and Nodaway County made an offer of eighty-six acres of land and $58,000 in cash, and the tender was accepted.

A board of Regents was appointed and met in St. Joseph later that year and at the meeting Frank Deerwester, then at the State Normal School at Warrensburg, was named the school's first president. The faculty was chosen in March, 1906, and of that first group of teachers Dean George H. Colbert, head of the mathematics department, is the only one now teaching in the college.

Cornerstone Laid in 1907

The Central public school building proved inadequate and a large brick building which had housed a seminary was taken over. This, too, would not accommodate the students, so it was necessary to hold many of the classes in office buildings in the business district of the town.

An appropriation of $225,000 was granted by the state and work on the administration building was started, the cornerstone being laid Oct. 12, 1907. More than 10,000 persons in northwest Missouri came to Maryville on that day to witness the ceremony at which Governor Folk was speaker. The foundation had been financed by contributions from citizens in Maryville and Nodaway county, but the work done by the state was irregular and the building was not ready for occupancy until October, 1910. The home of Captain Gaunt, nursery man, was remodeled and since has served as the president's residence.

Students Await Action of Board In Colbert Case

Student Committee Voices Continued Loyalty in S. T. C. Vote Confidence in President Lamkin And Express Thanks To Board For Courteous Hearing Accorded.

Watchful, respectful waiting seems to be the prevailing attitude of the student body in its request to the Board of Regents to elect Dean Colbert instructor in mathematics. At the last meeting of the Student Association, the committee composed of Clarence Rising, chairman, Louise Freeman, Ward Barnes, and Grace Graves, was delegated to remain in office and to act as the official spokesmen of the students in this matter. The meeting adjourned until after July 27 at which time the Board of Regents will meet.

The committee has presented its petition to the Board of Regents and had a conference with the Board July 14.

Following the publication of unwarranted newspaper articles and "gossip" this committee issued the following statement last week:

The Committee's Statement

Following is the resolution adopted by the student committee today:

"We, the undersigned, duly authorized committee of the student body, believe that a statement of the attitude of the student association is necessary to correct existing rumors and published statements of its attitude in the case of Dean George H. Colbert.

"We are and have been sincerely interested in the election of Dean Colbert as instructor of mathematics. We have employed what we believe to be every honorable means of making this possible, because we believe it to be to the best interests of our college. Our loyalty to S. T. C. is unchanged, and we regret any statement or inference from any source designed to cast discredit on our college, which has so successfully served the educational interests of Northwest Missouri for the last twenty years.

"We have implicit faith in President Lamkin, whose integrity and ability have made possible the substantial growth of our college in the last few years.

"We realize that the Board of Regents is, as it should be, the legal governing body of this institution, and in its present members we have placed our faith, and extend to them our thanks for the hearing which they gave us on July 14. We furthermore believe that when they have had time to consider our petition at length they will see fit to retain Dean Colbert.

Signed—

"C. E. RISING
"LOUISE B. FREEMAN
"WARD E. BARNES
"GRACE GRAVES."

Following the publication of the article in the St. Joseph Gazette of July 16, Ray Blomfield, student president, made the following statement.

"After reading the article in this morning's St. Joseph Gazette, I can only feel that it was direct retaliation for the action taken yesterday at the meeting by the student body against a man claiming to represent that paper.

"I refer to the matter of petitioning the governor of Missouri in regard to the Colbert matter. While such action was discussed and was even presented to the body in the form of a motion, it was almost without support and was voted down with practical unanimity. The man who claimed to represent the Gazette was finally asked to leave the auditorium after he had repeatedly tried to take the floor. This action was taken to prevent an outsider from agitating the student body on a matter so far removed from our objective.

"Events of the last few days have led some to believe that the students objective has been changed and that other matters have incorporated themselves into the desire for reinstatement of Dean Colbert. Such is not the case. Our objective is, and will continue to be, an honorable effort to induce the board to rescind former action.

Students Are Loyal

"With other matters we have no dealing. We zealously resent any intimation that our loyalty to the College is waning.

"As president of the student association, I strongly resent the action of any institution or individual calculated to stir the student body into unwarranted action, when such action is utterly foreign to the desires and objectives of the student body.

"When a person approaches me and claiming to represent the citizenry of Missouri, urges me to incite rebellion as head of the student association, I can feel that I am justified in believing that his motive is for the furtherance of 'yellow' journalism rather than for the good of the institution, town, and state of Missouri, and particularly Dean George H. Colbert."

Col. E. M. Stayton Gives Ideals of American Legion

State Commander, In Assembly Address, Favors Military Training—Says Legionnaires Are Service Men Not Ex-Servicemen.

Expressing his belief in restricted immigration and some form of military training for the youth of today, Col. E. M. Stayton, state commander of the American Legion, stated the ideals and purposes toward which the American Legion is working in his talk at Assembly Wednesday.

Col. Stayton dwelt briefly upon the memories, pleasant and unpleasant, that he has of the war. "One goes to the past, not to live, but for inspiration," he continued. "You or no one else can overlook the value of inspiration."

Colonel Stayton expressed the idea that in many cases the ex-army men are misunderstood—called "tools of capitalism." The Legion is striving and succeeding in no small degree in its accomplishments of keeping service to humanity as its ideal. The Legion is caring in every possible way for disabled soldiers. Proper provision is being made for the care of children orphaned through the war. An endowment fund of $5,000,000 was raised last year for this purpose.

Colonel Stayton said we are "extremely proud of this country of ours. Our ancestors came seeking God and so have prospered in their search for life more abundant. We have drawn from the wisdom of the ages the best they could offer. We have, as a result, made for ourselves a nation abounding in wealth of all kinds. All of that will be ours just so long as the world knows we can and will defend it. The Legion advocates restriction of immigration to protect the homogeneity of the nation.

"Low standards are not desirable. The way to have loyal citizens is to give them livable wages. I hope for the day when no son or daughter will have the door of hope closed in his face."

"The first line of defense is education," declared the speaker. "Health education should be taken back to the community by every teacher here. The Legion hopes to do something to contribute toward the decrease of the death rate. We can raise weanlings up to the limit of endurance and will have to do it.

"My organization subscribes to everything that will bring nations together. Yet the fact that there has been more warfare waged in the last year than at any time in the past 100 years makes a degree of caution necessary. If, as he learns lessons in citizenship, the youth of today can be taught just a little of how to defend his (Continued on page two)

284 Applicants File for Degrees And Certificates

Sixty-Eight Students Apply for B. S. and Nine Ask for A. B. At Close of This Quarter—Many 30 and 60-hour Applicants.

Two hundred and eighty-four students are candidates for one or more of the various degrees or certificates from the College at the close of the present term, according to the lists compiled and announced in Dean Colbert's office.

Sixty-eight of these students are candidates for the B. S. degree in education, signifying the completion of the prescribed four-years course. Nine are candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Arts.

The majority of the certificates to be issued are to those who will teach the coming year. There are 102 applications for the thirty-hour certificate and 105 applications for the sixty-hour certificate. The thirty-hour certificate entitles the owner to teach in the schools of Missouri for a period of two years and may be renewed upon the completion of fifteen hours of college work. The holder of the sixty-hour certificate is entitled to teaching privileges of the life certificate.

Candidates for the B. S.

The following are candidates for the B. S. degree: Ed Adams, Barnard; Myrtle Argo, Skidmore; Alma Appleby Bagby, Maryville; Amy Barrett, Skidmore; Veronica Berg, Maryville; Anita Bielmann, Savannah; Ethel W. Visit Fisherville --- A Complete City Housed Within the College

A college in a town is quite a commonplace thing.

But at town within a college is unusual to say the least. The unusual actually exists here at the college in room 103.

Some call the miniature town Fisherville. Those who vote for this name say that Maryville was named after Mary Graham, so why shouldn't this town be called after its greatest benefactor, Miss Fisher, instructor in industrial arts 23, who has made possible this fair city.

Neither is this a one-horse town as one might imagine, nor was any non-resident labor imported to build this unique village. The town was constructed by the members of the class under the supervision of Miss Fisher. Many styles of architecture are seen in the residential section of the town. The modern bungalow, Japanese house, rustic cabin and Dutch colonial are all represented. The dwellings are equipped and furnished just as houses were in the particular time of which they are typical.

The business section of the town has every appearance of a thriving, modern metropolis. Up-to-date stores selling all kinds of necessities and luxuries, like the Main Street. The Roseland Theatre is the pride of the village. It tells the history of every student project by showing the films which the students draw on long strips of paper. Industrial arts may be correlated to correlate the building of a home with almost every subject taught in the grade school.

When building a house the child must use arithmetic in measuring and getting the proper dimensions if the house is to be properly proportioned. The child will read more widely and become interested in various subjects by searching through books and magazines for information and ideas. Then too, he (Continued on Page Two)

Boys, do you want a wife who can really cook?

The meal service class has just finished serving a series of breakfasts, lunches and dinners. There are twenty-six girls who have demonstrated their ability to really cook. Mrs. Coolego says so and she knows. Besides learning to cook they have learned to be charming hostesses, guests of honor or waitresses.

Perhaps you do not realize what goes on in the kitchen before that tempting food is set before you. So let me elucidate so you boys will really appreciate the twenty-six opportunities up there for a matrimonial life assuring three good squares a day.

Before a meal can be served it must be planned, purchased and prepared. This takes time and thought if it is done in an efficient way. The meal service class learned to do all this. In these meals the food-stuffs were well represented and well balanced. You may say "What do we save

COLLEGE OATH
"We will never bring disgrace to this, our College, by any act of cowardice or dishonesty. We will fight for the ideals and sacred things of the College. We will never obey the College laws and do our best to inspire a like respect and reverence in others. We will strive to be those who come after us, greater, better, and more beautiful than it was transmitted to us."

TRUTH
Do we realize the true value of the motto over the entrance to our Alma Mater? "The Truth Shall Make You Free."

If an inhabitant of Mars could visit our planet and listen to the discussion of industrial education, he would be tempted to think that the grand aim and purpose of education might be displayed by putting over the entrance to the school house or college in letters "Money."

Instead of placing the word money above the door of the educational institutions the word of five letters is substituted "T-r-u-t-h."

Truth is more than knowledge. It always goes deeper than the intellect. It touches the heart out of which are the issues of life. The best teachers of every age have regarded truth as the pearl of great price which should be sought and valued above everything else.

Truth does not come as a free gift. The truth must be bought. Mathematical truth can be mastered in one way only—by keen, laborious thinking. It can never be acquired by memorizing. History is full of the tales of a heroic effort and sacrifice which the quest of truth has cost the martyrs of science.

The truth is worth all it costs. Although the truth is worth so much it is sometimes sold. Sometimes the truth is sold for a vote, for a smile.

There are two great realms of truth. Truth revealed from nature and truth from God. Both types of truth may be sold by neglect.

To be free one must know the truth and do the truth. "Know the truth and the truth shall make you free."

PARKING PROBLEMS

A large number of students are driving their cars to school and this creates the problem of finding a place to park your car.

It seems that a number of the students who drive cars, take only themselves into consideration when they are parking their cars.

The parking space is limited here at the college, in proportion to the number of cars that must use this space. Parking space is now being used in front of the administration building along the east drive and in the grove west of the building.

This situation can easily be remedied, if the students will park their cars in such a manner that they will utilize only the amount of space that is actually necessary in the parking of their cars.

If this plan would be adopted by every driver of a car, it would help solve the question of finding a place to park.

learns history by comparing the primitive homes of his ancestors with the present style.

In writing a story about the house, how it was built and where the materials came from, geography, composition and penmanship would be brought into the child's study.

Citizenship is taught by the cooperation of the students in building the house and teaching them how to entertain visitors. Proper ventilation and sanitation are stressed in all the buildings.

This construction work develops many qualities in the child which are most desired and essential. It shows him that he is dependent on others and he learns to cooperate. He must perform various sorts of work, he learns to do by doing and unconsciously develops a love for labor.

When building a house the pupil first obtains boxes the size he wishes to make his rooms. The boxes are arranged so that all rooms will be convenient, well ventilated and present a pleasing appearance. The interior walls are covered with paper colored by the pupils with paint or crayons. The floors are then laid and covered with rugs of various patterns woven with looms made in the classroom. The entire house is then fitted with furniture, dpanories and all that makes a home artistic and pleasing.

One very interesting building is the House of the Three Bears. It is constructed just as the old fable has described it to the children of several generations. All furnishings are proportioned to the size of the bears. The three sizes of beds, chairs, porridge bowls, and other equipment gives the house an air of uniformity.

Though the bears are common clay they seem to command attention as they enjoy a round table conversation. Any child would become more interested when studying this story in this manner, and every other house in the room tells a story just as the bears' house does.

Nothing but inexpensive material is used in the construction work in order to show the teacher-to-be how she can carry on this work without any added expense to the district. Contrary to opinion acquired at first sight nothing is done except that which is entirely practical.

ington, D. C. She then made 52½ hours of credit at the college—making four "M" six "S" and eight "E" grades. This made a total of 117½ hours of credit. She was issued a diploma on July 31, 1924 but before the diploma was issued she presented a credit of 3½ hours earned at Harvard during the summer of 1922, and certified by Harvard under the date of January 28, 1924. Mrs. Pater may have entered Harvard again after her degree was granted but the credits on which her diploma was issued were earned and certified prior to her graduation.

The other instances cited by the Journal-Post for which Mr. Loomis is given as authority are in regard to credits of Luther Richman and Thos. H. Annett. Mr. Richman presented, in addition to his entrance units, 87 hours of college work. He had attended Northwestern University and the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music before coming here. He earned 37½ hours of credit here, making a total of 124½ hours. Mr. Annett presented advanced standing of 80 hours including work done at Northwestern University and the University of Oregon—and made 45 hours of credit at the college, making a total of 125 hours of college credit. In the work done in Maryville, Mr. Richman made six "M" five "S" and two "E" grades, while Mr. Annett made six "M," nine "S," and two "E" grades.

Presented by Committee
The names of Mr. Richman and Mr. Annett were presented to the faculty by the committee on July 14, 1925. The committee which had charge of checking credits and recommending to the faculty candidates for certificates and degrees and who finally checked the lists for the faculty before turning them over to the secretary of the Board of Regents has been headed—at least for five years—by George H. Colbert. It has included in its membership up to the first of September, 1925, such faculty members as Fred Keller, Burt Loomis, M. W. Wilson, C. A. Hawkins, T. H. Cook, Katherine Franken, Edith A. Barnard, Mattie Dykes, and Chas. R. Gardner. Since September 1, 1925, it has been composed of Geo. H. Colbert as chairman, T. H. Cook and Mattie Dykes, who report to the Faculty Council as well as to the faculty. The president has relied on that committee for recommendations to the Board, has accepted those recommendations without question and has never presented to the Board for certification or graduation anyone who was not certified by that committee, with the single exception cited below. The work of the committee has been conscientiously and carefully done. It may be that in some cases it has been necessary—because of certain courses not being available, or because of work taken elsewhere—to permit the substitution of one course for another. But every such instance has been handled by the above committee acting for the faculty which fixes requirements, and no one has been granted any certificate or diploma on less than the required number of hours of work. Every person granted a certificate or degree has been entitled to it—and any attack which reflects on the integrity of the grades, certificates or degrees is against the best interests of every student in the institution, past and present.

Human Case An Exception

The single exception noted above is that of Leonard Hosman. The question involved was of a different nature.

There was no question of credits or requirements. The sole issue was whether or not credits earned in residence were shown on the records of the college. Over the books of the college the faculty has no jurisdiction. Neither the Dean nor the President has any authority to correct a record—nor can the registrar accept any such instructions from them. But in order to protect students some authority must be found to give full credit, even if the books fail to show it. After three years of consideration of evidence in the form of statements from men in the classes with him, of records drawn from the files of the college by persons who have not for several years past been connected with the institution, and of grade slips in his possession, the Board of Regents—the only authority in such a matter—ordered that the records show what the facts were and that credit for work done thirteen years ago be given at this late day. When that was done, the condition as to hours and requirements was met and a degree was ordered issued.

"The records of the institution are open for competent inspection. The President has not and will not interfere with the proper faculty function of granting grades and recommending certificates and degrees. He has and will insist that it is done by a committee of the faculty and by the faculty, and that individual opinion or caprice shall not override the decisions of committee or faculty. The high standards which entitle the college to its membership in the Missouri Conference of Educational Institutions, to membership in the North Central Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges, and to membership in the American Association of Teachers Colleges, and which admit its graduates to the graduate schools of the United States have been and will be maintained."

country, that boy will be a better citizen in most cases for this added knowledge of his country."

In expressing his belief that military spirit is not engendered in the boy through military training and that the boy does not want to kill humans beings because he has learned the methods of warfare, Colonel Statton said, "I don't know what the military spirit is."

"We do not want to be considered ex-service men but service men," Colonel Statton said in conclusion. "The fondest hope of the men of the Legion would be that their countrymen might say when those men have died:

"Here lies our service men in war and in peace—just service men for God and country."

Former Students Visit Philadelphia

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Gannab, of Corvallis, Mo., Mr. and Mrs. U. L. Riley, of Maitland, and Miss Julia Newton of Rosendale, former students and graduates of the College have returned from a motor trip throughout the east.

They attended the National Educational Association and the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition at Philadelphia. Before going to Philadelphia, they visited the capitals of Columbus, Ohio and Indianapolis, Indiana and at Gettysburg. Gettysburg, formerly a town of 2900 at the time of the war, now having a population of 6000, is full of old relics. These relics furnish the main source of living for the residents of Gettysburg.

In Washington, D. C. the party visited all the places of interest. The union station, in which the president has his own private waiting room, is one of the most beautiful stations in the world. The United States Treasury building in Washington is the only United States Treasury Building open to the public. The building of Fort Myer, and the protection it affords makes possible an arrangement by which the building is open to the public.

The ambition of the people to make Washington the "city beautiful" is being well carried out. Electric wires for street cars are under ground. The streets are so wide that street traffic rules are unnecessary.

Mr. and Mrs. Gannab went by train to New York. They tunneled the Hudson river. They also visited on Long Island.

Peru Compliments Mr. Cooper's Work

Mr. Cooper, conducting for the third consecutive year, a short course in vitalized agriculture at the Peru, Nebraska State Teachers College, went "over big" according to a letter received by President Lamkin from W. N. Delzell, acting president of that institution. Mr. Cooper conducted this course at Peru week before last. Mr. Delzell wrote the following letter:

"Dear President Lamkin: We closed our Rural Education Week last Saturday. Our faculty and students join me in saying that we never had a more successful Rural Education Week. They also join me in saying that Professor Cooper was a large factor in this week."

"We have been unusually well pleased with him the other summers that he was with us. That is the reason we had him back again this summer, but I can honestly say he 'went over the top' this summer. A man of his sincerity and honesty of purpose is a real inspiration to all of us. I congratulate you on having a man of his power in your institution."

"I am writing you this without the knowledge of Mr. Cooper, but I feel he deserves this word of commendation for the service given us."

Sincerely,
W. N. Delzell."

Newman Club

A meeting of the Newman Club was held July 13. The program was as follows: Reading by Sara Boone; Reading by Mary McLarney; Talk on Eucharistic Congress by Rita Fisher.

Father Neumann talked at the last meeting of the club.

College Emblems

Every student is naturally proud of the pin or ring of this College for it pleasantly reminds him of associations of school days. You will want one of these pins before you return home—especially after you see our new ones.

We have artistic pins in the pearl-mounted M, in sterling, gold-filled and gold.

Particularly attractive are the new solid gold M's set with pearls. We invite your inspection of these.

A New Process of Resoling

We are pleased to announce that we have just installed a Hydro Cementing Process for the resoling of women's shoes. We believe it has completely revolutionized the resoling of shoes.

With this new equipment we use no tacks, no stitches. It makes the soles more flexible and the vulcanizing process makes them more resistant to wear.

This work is guaranteed. You can't appreciate its advantages over the old methods until you have worn a pair of shoes resoled by the Hydro Process.

foods which give heat and energy, which build tissues, and which act as body regulators.

These girls, as all good cooks do, pay special attention to the protective foods such as milk, fresh fruits and green vegetables which have health and growth promoting vitamins.

"What nonsense is all this?" you say. If that mother of yours had called all this nonsense, perhaps you wouldn't be as strong and handsome as you are now. Maybe you think eating just things which are good for you is all nonsense but we notice that you athletes mind your coach's advice, at least once in a while.

Would you like to sit down in a room that was dark and without sunshine and would you want your food to be dingy looking? These girls have learned to make the room and table attractive so that eating would be more enjoyable. They put pretty flowers in the center of the table which match or harmonize with the color of the food. They know how to keep things clean and to make them attractive, too.

If you had to eat potatoes every day would you want them mashed all the time? No. Well, these girls have learned to fix them in many different, attractive ways—unashed, baked, boiled, fried, rice and others. And not only potatoes but other foods may be fixed in a variety of ways.

Isn't it disgusting to go into a restaurant and order hot coffee and get lukewarm coffee, or fried tea and get warwar tea, hot toast and get it cold and soggy? Well, if you get one of these girls for a wife you will always get "hot things hot and cold things cold."

High School Party

The Teachers College High School had a party at the Newman Club House Thursday, July 8.

The young people had a good time playing ruck. Pauline Payne received the girls prize and Floyd Wyman the boys. After the games dancing was enjoyed. Refreshments of punch and ice cream sandwiches were served.

The committee in charge was Beverly Martin, Clarence Lloyd, Margaret Ann Toomay and Eudora McDonald.

Those present were Eudora McDonald, Pauline Payne, Beverly Martin, Neola Smith, Bernice Crockett, Bill Lamkin, Jack Murdock, Kenneth Barnes, Stanley Ford, Kenneth Leeson, C. Stillwell, Clarence Lloyd, Edward Brush and Floyd Wyman.

Clearmont Students Picnic

Students attending college here this summer from Clearmont enjoyed a picnic at the College Park Wednesday. Those attending were: Martha Brandt, Oma Baneroff, Cecil Culver, Viola Brandt, Gladys Koeber, Dola Holmes, Irene Pence, Crystal Holbrooks, Gladys Hornbuckle, Bernice Benn, Addie Carpenter, Gertrude VanVelsan, Day Baker, Elliot Lister, Raymond Benn, James Johnson, and Burl Benn.

Council Dance

The Student Council dance which was given July 5 was well attended by the student body. There have been several requests from various students for another dance before the close of the summer term.

Atwood Newman

Louise Atwood of Darlington, a Junior in S. T. C., and George Newman, a senior, were married July 1 at Mount Airy, Iowa. After September they will be in Elvins, Mo., where George will be instructor in the commerce department.

Davies County Picnic

Students from Davies County with their county superintendent, Irene O'Brien, and invited faculty members, enjoyed a picnic Wednesday evening. Those attending the picnic were: Mary Martin, Mary Osborn, Crystal Royston, Iva Farber, Willetta Pogue, Asta Place, Minnie Lake, Pearl Henricks, Ruth Hise, Elsie Dryer, Mary Slaughter, Helen Slaughter, Daisy Weller, Pauline Weller, Opal Mallory, Sella Wilson, Emma Brown, Ruth Minnick, Helen Maeder, Fern Bennum, Martha Yarbrough, Mabel Haver, Faye Croy, Ruby Carter, Mae Belle Knight, Pink Dowell, Lloyd Marshall, Floyd Marshall, Clifford Evans, Ross Lankford, Mrs. Ross Lankford, Eloise Ewing, Nova House, Mattie Lee Youtsey, Dorothy Koger, Macjorie Koger, Irene O'Brien, Opal Brown, Clorie Bell, and Ruby Lindsay.

The invited guests and faculty members were: Miss Halley, Miss Anderson, Miss Dow, Miss DeLuce, Miss Barnard, Mr. Miller, Dean Colbert, Miss Dykes, Miss Jeffries, Miss Katherine Franken, Mrs. Blomfield, Miss Helwig, Mr. and Mrs. Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Wallin, President and Mrs. Lamkin, Miss Slosson, Mr. Phillips, Mr. Ramsey, Miss Coolidge, Miss Anthony, Mr. and Mrs. Cooper, Miss Fisher, Miss Fox, Rev. and Mrs. Dewar, Miss Keith, Miss Souter, Miss Bowman, Mr. Gardner, Miss Higgins, Mr. and Mrs. Leeson, Miss Shepherd, and Mr. and Mrs. Foster.

Entertain at Dinner

Miss Manley and Miss Parr entertained at Frank Smart's Monday, July 19, the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Hieckbrode, Mr. and Mrs. Toomay, Mr. and Mrs. Foster, Miss Mather and Miss Stowell.

Excelsiors Picnic

The Excelsiors went on a picnic Wednesday in the College Park. Bacon and wieners were roasted over the fire and when the rain began to pour the college bus was used for a dining car and in spite of the rain the Excelsiors enjoyed the picnic. The rain continued to pour, the Excelsiors continued to picnic. On the way home all decided they had a fine time anyway.

"Old Maids" Entertain

The "old maids of the faculty" (nomenclature by direction of those concerned) entertained with a dinner Wednesday night at the Frank Smart home. The dinner was served on the lawn. Those attending were:

Miss Halley, Miss Brumbaugh, Miss Keith, Miss James, Miss Fox, Miss Bowman, Miss McClunahan, Miss Parr, Miss Manley, Miss Jeffries, Miss Andrews, Miss DeLuce, Miss Dow, Miss Helwig, Miss Painter, Miss Hudson, Miss Dykes, Miss Carr, Miss Torhune, Miss Lowery, Miss Millikan, Miss Stowell, Miss Slosson, Miss Mather.

Three Assembly Speakers Coming

Three more assemblies, and each of special interest, will be held before visiting Eastern Stars were present.

this term of school closes, President Lamkin announced at Assembly Wednesday.

Next Monday Dr. J. J. Tigert, U. S. Commissioner of Education will speak. Dr. Tigert has spoken here before and is known as a forceful, entertaining speaker.

Next Wednesday John Case, editor of the Missouri Ruralist and member of the state agriculture board, will be here to award the prize in the $100 vitigized agriculture notebook contest. Other prize winners will be announced at that time.

On Monday, August 2 at 10:15, Dr. G. W. Dyer, professor of economics of the Vanderbilt University. Dr. Dyer is known as Dixie's famous "humorist-entertainer" and has an enviable reputation as a public speaker.

Exams Are Coming --But Why Worry, Asks the Optimist

"Some body or some thing is always taking the joy out of life. Just at this time when students are eagerly anticipating the close of the summer quarter the faculty reminds the students of the approaching exams by announcing the schedule for these quizzes the last two days of school. However, this announcement may be good news to the filling stations which stock "midnight oil" as a big run is expected on this liquid next week.

Here is the schedule:

Wednesday, August 4
Period II—7:30 to 9:30.
Period V—10 to 12.
Period VI—1:30 to 3.
Period VIII—3 to 4:30.

Thursday, August 5

Period I—7:30 to 9:30.
Period III—10 to 12.
Period VII—1:30 to 3:30.
Assembly Monday August 2, 10 a.m.
But why worry over exams, asks one optimistic student and here is the way he reasons it:

Why worry over exams? You have two alternatives—your professor is either easy or hard. If he is easy, you have nothing to worry about. If he is hard, you have two alternatives—either you study hard or you bluff. If you study hard you don't have to worry. If you bluff you have two alternatives—either your bluff works or it doesn't. If it works, you don't have to worry. If it doesn't, you have two alternatives—either you are conditioned or you flunk. If you are conditioned, you needn't worry. If you flunk you wouldn't have to worry any longer. Therefore, why worry?

Y. W. Plays Games On College Campus

A unique meeting of the Y. W. was held this week when the girls adjourned from their regular meeting room and spent forty-five minutes playing games on the campus under the leadership of Loretta Jones. Chocolate fudge was served to the members after the games. It was announced at the meeting that the moving picture "The Midnight Express" would be sponsored by the Y. W. and will be shown July 29 and 30. The Y. W. also acknowledged the generous gift of $10 made to the organization by Mr. Wells.

A large number attended the program given in the Y. W. C. A. meeting Tuesday morning, July 13. The program consisted of the following numbers:

Song—"A Merry Life."
Song—"Follow The Glean."
Devotional Reading—June Cozine.
Violin Solo—"Dottie Davis."
Talk—Mr. Miller.

Mr. Miller gave a very interesting talk on the subject of "Education." "If education needs anything today, it needs a stiffening of its vertebrae," he said. "Education plus comprises culture and character. Culture is like a foundry. It removes all dross. Culture is revealed by the richness, the magnificence of the life of a person, not by the splendor of the roof over his head."

"But character must stand behind everything. Character is a perfectly controlled will. It is like a white paper. Once it is blotted, it can never be white again. These two things go in the make-up of education."

Eastern Star Hold Instruction School

The Eastern Star Club met on Friday, July 9. A class of instruction was held for the purpose of preparing the club members, particularly new ones, to visit the local chapter.

The meeting of the local chapter of Maryville was held that evening. Helen Peabody of the club, also Past Worthy Grand Matron of the State of Missouri, presided at the meeting of the local chapter. Initiatory services were held for one candidate, Mary Lewis of Maryville.

A large crowd of local members and visiting Eastern Stars were present.

Students Enjoy V. L. Granville's Drama Excerpts

English Actor Pleases Large Crowd In His Presentation of Dramatic Interludes Monday Night—Gives Outline of Drama.

A clever, educational and highly delightful program seemed to be the consensus of opinion of the large crowd which saw V. L. Granville, distinguished English actor in his presentation of dramatic interludes given in the College auditorium Monday of this week. The program was unique in its type as Mr. Granville endeavored to give his audience a sweeping outline of drama from the time of the Greeks to the present day.

Characterizing Shakespeare as the "central figure of Elizabethan time, indeed of all time," Mr. Granville preceded his presentation of dramatic interludes with a short lecture. Mr. Annet assisted at the piano.

The first part of the program included scenes from plays from the time of the Greeks to Shakespeare; the second part included sketches of plays from the time of Moliere to the present day. Each character was so well portrayed by Mr. Granville as to make it difficult to call one interpretation better than another.

Ergasilus from "The Captives" by Plautus, and Falstaff, Shakespeare's delightful character, were among the most popular of the presentations. Mr. Granville's portrayal of Faustus from Marlow's play "The Tragical History of Dr. Faustus" was a work of art.

In the play of a later period "Harpagon" taken from Moliere's "The Miser" was depicted artistically. Mrs. Malaprop, from Sheridan's "The Rivals" was delightfully done. Mr. Granville's presentation of "Fedyia" from Tolstoy's "The Living Corpse," a modern play, as interpreted by Mr. Granville showed skill of no mean quality.

The interludes were interspersed by selections from works of the master composers. Mr. Annet played for Mr. Granville.

The quickness with which Mr. Granville changed from one character to another was almost miraculous, had not most of the costume and make-up been done in front of the audience, where an improvised dressing table was arranged. Mr. Granville excused himself for not using the curtain by telling of the Chinese custom of having no curtain. The Chinese audience considers the property men invisible while the setting of the stage is being changed.

Mr. Granville's pleasing personality added in no small part to his delightful program.

The Philomathean Literary Society held its regular bi-monthly meeting Friday, July 16. The following program was given:

Song—Society.
Cello Solo—Martha Haas.
Vocal Solo—Hazel Hawkins.
Talk—Carl Wymap.
Vocal Solo—Lorraine Maxey.

New Girls' Coach And Teacher in Home Ec. Elected

Dr. Ethel Julia Saxman To Succeed Miss Manley Who Will Attend Medical School—Miss Starr to Teach Foods.

Two new faculty members have been employed for the coming year President Lamkin announced at Assembly this week.

Dr. Ethel Julia Saxman will become head of the physical education department for women and will fill the vacancy which occurs when Miss Helen Manley leaves on August 1. Miss Manley, who has been at the College several years, resigned more than a year ago, but was persuaded to continue until this August.

She will go from the College to a medical school and will study that profession, taking the M. D. degree at the completion of the required work. Miss Manley has been quite popular here and her leaving is a loss to the institution.

Miss Saxman, however, comes to the College here with an enviable reputation, both in training and actual practice. She received her preliminary school work at the Pennsylvania State Normal and later studied at the University of Pittsburgh and the University of Pennsylvania. She took her bachelor's, master's, and doctor's degrees from Columbia University, New York, with a major in physical education.

Miss Saxman has had nine years of teaching experience in Pennsylvania, New York, and Missouri. From 1919 until 1923, she was in charge of physical education for women at the Springfield, Mo., State Teachers College, and comes to Maryville highly recommended by that institution.

The other new faculty member is Miss Lucille Starr, a former teacher in summer schools here. She is a graduate of the University of Colorado with the A. B. degree. She has had several years of teaching experience. Miss Starr will have charge of foods classes at the College. She taught here for three months, the last time being in 1924.

The History of Any Failure in Life will be found to be a history of a man who spent as he earned, with never a thought of tomorrow and the day after. And the history of a success in life will be just as regularly found to be the history of one who saved and had the money to take advantage of the opportunities that came his way.

Saving represents the road to success; spending the down-hill road that is easy to travel but ends in disaster always. You can take your choice—but after you've got too far along the down-hill path, it's impossible to turn back.

LOBBY LOOKING WEST

The Stroller

By ? ? ? ?

The Stroller is somewhat worried lately for fear she will lose her position. She realizes that Homer Ogden offers mighty strong competition as a stroller himself. Last Friday Homer had planned to go to St. Joseph with the journalism class. He saw one of the cars go by. Knowing that the other would soon follow, he waited. After several minutes he decided that he was "left" but that did not stop Homer. He struck out afoot and the surprising part is that he was some ten miles from Maryville when the other car overtook him. He even went so far as to say that he would have been in St. Joe by noon. Wouldn't you be worried if you were the Stroller?

Tom Merrigan another cub, was quite impressed with the young lady workers of the News-Press. One cannot really blame him at that. He was brought back safely to Maryville.

"Prof." Selemann makes a good "flunkie" especially when it comes to changing tires. He made the statement that he had all new tires and would have no trouble, before he started. But he had a puncture before he got half way to St. Joseph. Anyway he changed the tire.

Bernice Ewing started to St. Joseph last Friday with the class, and was planning on staying in St. Joseph, but when the care she was in was about ten miles south of Maryville, she discovered that she had left her traveling bag on the floor by the east entrance of the college. After a frantic yell, the car was stopped and Bernice goes into a farm yard, braving the growls of several dogs, and called the College. A promise to go and see if the bag were still there is given at the office, so Bernice continues on her way. The bag is recovered the first of the week. Bernice remained in St. Joseph.

The Stroller is wondering if he will have his heart broken. From what has been said seems as if Ruth Ann Morris a champion at the breaking of hearts. Although it has not been stated definitely, it is thought that the best results were obtained from a young man in Colorado. So there may be some hope for the Stroller after all. Wonder why she seemed to have a guilty conscience while swimming last Tuesday?

And the Stroller wonders why Charlotte Hainman is partial to Chevrolet sedans.

Miss Terhune to Go to Lindenwood

Spanish Teacher Here Resigns To Take Similar Position at Girls' School.

Miss Terhune, instructor of romance language of the College has resigned her position here to take the position of professor of modern languages at the Lindenwood College of St. Charles, Mo. Miss Terhune came to Maryville three years ago to take Miss Dow's position while she was on leave of absence. After Miss Dow's return, Miss Terhune remained and took charge of the work in Spanish in this institution.

Lindenwood College to which Miss Terhune goes is one of the outstanding colleges for women west of the Mississippi. In 1927 the Lindenwood College will celebrate its one hundredth anniversary.

Miss Terhune received her A. B. degree from Western College, A. M. from Columbia University, a certificate in Spanish for graduate work in the Spanish School of Middlebury College, Middlebury, Vt. and has studied in the University of Grenoble, France. Miss Terhune has traveled considerably on the continent and has spent the last two summers in Old Mexico.

Was Called "Northwest Normal"

The Northwest Normal was started as a two-year school, many of the students being only of high school rank. However, as the years passed and students completed their high school work and the two-year college course offered, it became advisable to establish a four-year course, which was done June 22, 1916, when the state superintendent of schools, the president of the University of Missouri, and the five normal school presidents had adopted a resolution favoring such a course. In 1921 a resolution was passed, enabling the school to grant the standard degree of bachelor of arts and change its name from Northwest Missouri State Normal School to Northwest Missouri State Teachers College.

A student army training corps was established in the college in 1918, the fourth floor being converted into a barracks and the campus being used as a drill ground.

Gymnasium Built Last Year

Residence Hall, the woman's dormitory, was completed in 1923 at the cost of $200,000 and in 1925 a gymnasium was built at a cost of $125,000, bringing the value of the buildings on the campus well above the $450,000.

mark Farm buildings and implement sheds are being added each year.

During the existence of the college it has had five presidents. Homer M. Cook succeeded Frank Deewester in 1907. J. K. Taylor was named president in 1910, and held that office until 1913, at which time Ira Richardson was made president. Uel W. Lamkin, present president, succeeded Mr. Richardson in 1921.

Many Are Signing Up For Extension Work

Plans have gone forward rapidly the past few weeks on the organization of various extension courses over North-west Missouri for the coming year. Several groups have already secured the minimum number of ten students and have selected their courses and instructors. Mr. Cooper, director of extension, is meeting various groups and helping them plan their courses.

Students interested in taking extension work should see Mr. Cooper in room 212 as soon as possible so the classes may be organized. Requests for extension centers have come from students in the following towns:

Burlington Junction, History of English Literature, Browning 105, Early England 71a and Modern England 71b. Blytheville, Barnard, Bolekow, Chillicothe, Educational Psychology 54, Child Study 120, and Educational Sociology 112.

(Those courses numbered with Roman numerals are of high school rank.)

H. S. Students See Oil Drill at Work

Vernon Goslee and G. O. Riley took their classes in high school geography to Quitman last week to see the drilling for oil that is being done near there.

Mr. Raymond Rose, who has charge of the work, explained the different parts of the machinery and showed their use.

The classes also made a study of rocks found in that vicinity. An interesting study was found in dome formation and its underlying layer of shale. The class explored a creek bed, finding specimens which it has been studying. A small vein of coal found underlying a strata of rock proved to be a good subject for study.

The educational value of such a trip helped by reports and English papers on various phases of the work.

Students Describes Indian Schools

Mrs. Nettie Stuart, a student of the college, who now teaches in the Indian Schools in New Mexico, talked to the class in Elementary Home Economics about the food, shelter and clothing of the Indians. She showed some of the different types of bread which they have; both the ceremonial and that used in every day diet. She also showed some samples of handicraft in spinning, weaving, bead work and in precious metals and semi-precious stones.

Two Teams Tie For Honors in Girls' Tourney

Final Game in Girls' Basketball Tournament Ends 22 to 22 In favor of Murray and Tebow—Preliminaries Played Tuesday.

Fern Murray and Helen Tebow's basketball teams tied for the championship in the finals of the basketball tournament Wednesday afternoon. The score was 22-22. Captain Murray made 16 of the 22 points for her team and Gertrude Dale made 18 of the points for Captain Tebow's team. Helen Bagby added 6 points to the former's score and Esther Gile made 4 for the Tebow team.

In spite of the extreme heat the players displayed good team work. The game was the most exciting and interesting of the tournament. Both teams played hard for the championship and kept the score close throughout the games. Many times it was a tie and when the final whistle blew the score was 22-22.

Members of the two teams were: Captain Fern Murray—Forward, Helen Bagby—Forward, Cora Craven—Jumping Center, Leona Whorton—Running Center, Avis Gaemlich—Guard, Lorena Palmer—Guard.

Members of the Tebow team were: Captain Helen Tebow, Gertrude Dale—Forward, Lucy Allen—Forward, Mary Fehrenbach—Jumping Center, Dotty Davis—Running Center, Pauline Grier—Guard, Eva Lee Young—Guard.

Gile substituted for Allen, Tebow for Young who took Fehrenbach's place.

Officials for this game were Rosella Froman, referee; Anna MacHolt, umpire; Allalie Fields, scorekeeper; Mary Wray, timekeeper.

The preliminaries for the finals were played on Tuesday afternoon. Captain Murray's team won from Captain Holt's with a score of 8-6. Captain Tebow's team won from Captain Froman's team with a score of 17-13.

For the first preliminary game the following officiated: Allalie Fields, referee; Rosella Froman, umpire, Helen Tebow, scorekeeper; Bernice Howard, timekeeper.

For the second of the preliminary games officials were: Fern Murray and Bernice Howard, referees; Anna MacHolt, umpire; Allalie Fields, Scorekeeper; Avis Gaemlich, timekeeper.

Members of the Froman team were: Captain Rosella Froman—Running Center, Margaret Quinlan, Forward, Pauline Manchester—Forward, Ruth Prescher—Jumping Center, Eva Lee Young—Guard, Fayne Rolls—Guard.

Members of the Holt team were: Captain Anna May Holt, Marie Harding—Forward, Dorothy Newsome—Forward, Mary Wray—Jumping Center, Opal Yoder—Running Center, Zelma Campbell—Guard, Lorena Lawson—Guard.

For big summer projects Miss Souter's class in Primary Curriculum, Education 95, is working on courses of study. They are courses adapted to the work of the first three grades.

Certain courses are being worked out by groups while other courses are being worked out by individuals.

Before the project is handed in as complete, it is given in the group as a report. This report is criticized, passed upon, and revised. It is then handed to Miss Souter.

The members of the class are planning to take these courses of study and try them out in their own classrooms to prove their value and worth in the field.

It is then the plan of the class to have these projects published in pamphlet form if they prove to be applicable and valuable courses.

Y. W. C. A. to Sell S. T. C. Emblems

Everyone in school has wanted S. T. C. covers, penants, pillows, sleeve bands and sweater pocket emblems. The Y. W. C. A. is going to try to take orders for these before the close of the summer quarter, and also to sell the articles this summer and next fall before the football season opens.

The Y. W. C. A. programs are reaching many girls, but more girls should become interested in religious work. Much effort has been expended to aid the Y. W. C. A., and more girls should take part. New song books, "The Association Hymnal," have been ordered.

The Y. W. C. A. has expressed its appreciation of the generous gifts of money from Dean Barnard and Mr. Wells.

Newman Girls Seek Open Air At Dinner Time

If you don't believe that the girls of the Newman Club House know how to have a good time and forget hot weather, just read this—

Last Wednesday when everyone was tired of work and needed a real playtime, they decided to have a picnic outside instead of dinner as usual. All got busy collecting what they needed and then hied themselves away from house and town to an inviting spot.

A big fire was built and allowed to die down to a bed of embers. Soon the air was filled with the smell of roasting potatoes, frying hamburgers and toasting buns. When these good things were ready, fresh tomatoes, new pears, cakes and cold pop aided them in satisfying those appetites which are the rule at a time like this.

During the whole time no one mentioned work or worry, and by 8 o'clock all were back with minds and bodies refreshed ready for any task.

Mr. Jensen Talks On X-Ray History

Mr. Jensen, who is teaching the physics classes during Mr. Hake's absence, gave an interesting talk to the Mathematics and Science Club, Friday, July 9.

In a few sentences Mr. Jensen gave the history of the development of the X-ray. A brief review of the electron theory, its development and connection with the X-ray, together with some good experiments was interesting to all. The explanation of the practical application of the X-ray in dentistry, in medical work and in the study of crystal structure added much to the value of the talk.

Many Delight in Fanning Concert

Despite Bad Weather Large Crowd Hears Noted Baritone in Pleasing Concert.

No wonder Cecil Fanning is a favorite with every audience he entertains. Monday night, at the college auditorium, he sang to a large audience despite the rain. Mr. Fanning explained many of the numbers he sang. The audience appreciated him because he made them understand him. He has a deep, mellow voice and a very pleasing appearance.

In impersonating the songs "La Cyclic Du Vin" and "Ah, Que l'Amour Cause Du Peine," Mr. Fanning wore the costume of a French peasant. These two numbers were well received as were also the air from "Joseph en Egypte" and "Henry the Fowler."

Mr. Fanning compared the newer French music to caviar and the German music to bread and butter. Mr. Fanning was very liberal with encore numbers, some of which were "A Lazy Song," "The Last Leaf," "Mother Macree" and "Mammy Song," which was written especially for Mr. Fanning.

Following is the program:

I
Come, Sweet Morning, (Old French)—Arr. A. L.

O, Sleep Why Dost Thou Leave Me?—Handel (1865-1759).

Air from "Joseph en Egypte"—Mehul (1763-1871).

Mr. Fanning

II
L'Invitation un Voyage (Beaudelaire)—Duparc.

LeBachelier De Salamanque—Roussel.

Henry the Fowler—Loewe.

Der Erlkonig (Goethe)—Schubert.

Mr. Fanning

III
Piano.

En Bateau—Zweckwer.

Crap Shooters—Lane.

May Night—Palmgren.

German Dance No. 3—Beethoven.

Mr. Stainbrook

IV
Folk Songs

Little Nightingale of France (Spanish)—Arr. Kurt Schindler.

Sheep in Clusters (Revolutionary times)—Arr. Samuel Endicott.

Le Cycle Du Vin (French)—Arr. Gustave Ferrari.

Ah, Que l'Amour Cause de Peine (French)—Arr. Edwin Stainbrook.

V
Canterbury Tales (Katherine Tynan)—O. W. Marsh.

The Color of Water (Marjorie Meeker)—Harold D. Davidson.

Sleepy Hollow Tune (Fosdick)—Richard Kountz.

Air from "Alhambra" (Ocell Fanning)—Francesco B. De Leon.

Mr. Fanning

Journalism Class to St. Joseph

The journalism class, taught by Mr. Selemann, went to St. Joseph last Friday and spent the day visiting the Art-crafts Engraving Co. plant and the St. Joseph News-Press.

Department Doings

Education 22

The third hour Education 22 class, under the direction of Miss Katherine Franken, spent an interesting hour observing the 6th grade class of the Franklin school, in giving a socialized recitation July 15.

This practical demonstration was as much of an experiment to the children themselves, as it was to the observers, because it was being used for the first time by this particular class. The regular American history assignment was used in the recitation.

The socialized recitation is beginning to be used more in the class rooms now than it was formerly. The main reason being that the student is able to carry on the class work.

In the socialized recitation it is the self control-activity, thru experience created in the class room for the purpose of training the child by means of cooperation with others engaged in the same essential and profitable work.

The socialized recitation makes the schoolroom real, lifelike and natural. The teacher becomes a better planner and guide but is less active in the recitation. The teacher's work is completed before the class opens and once in the class room she becomes one of the class with more or less authority as it is required. This gives the child the opportunity to do and to be, rather than merely to know. The students open the discussion and then they carry on the recitation, the teacher letting the class handle the recitation, unless some point comes up that is not clear, then the instructor clears up this particular point.

This group of younger students did not seem to be embarrassed or afraid in giving their interpretation of their lesson in front of the ninety-six College student observers. They served to illustrate and to emphasize the importance of the socialized recitation.

Miss Holiday is the teacher in charge of the class, which is composed of the following pupils: Elizabeth DeMoss, Hazel Seal, George Meek, Veri Childress, Earl Holt, Edith Steel, Ethel Steel and Zora Swanson.

Demonstration School

Miss Holiday demonstrated a socialized recitation to the classes in Education 22 at Franklin school last Thursday. Although this was the first time anything of the kind was attempted with these children, the work was creditably done.

Former Student Here

Irene Lowry, of Kansas City, Mo., who was graduated in the class of 1925, is visiting in Maryville. Irene will teach next year at Martinsville, Mo. This will be her second year as English teacher at Martinsville.

Rural School Management

Mr. Cooper's class in Rural School Management is studying plays, corrective gymnastics, and activities suitable for the rural schools. Tuesday, demonstrations were made under the direction of committees from the class. An effort is being made to apply methods that correlate mental and motor activities. The playground activities being used to motivate the work inside the

Whitford Talks on Educational Topics

Supt J. A. Whitford of Cape Girardeau and who has in the past been superintendent of schools in St. Joseph and Oklahoma City, gave a series of interesting and profitable lectures to students during the week of July 12.

In discussing the qualities of teachers he said that the fine points of human life could not be measured by physical standards and although there are tests to measure the mental ability the highest qualities of manhood and womanhood can not be measured. He also said that one quality of a teacher is a deep faith in God.

In his address on "Making Schools Pay," Mr. Whitford pointed out that education was the remedy for crime and poverty and that illiteracy was a drawback to good government. In his talk on "School Finance," Mr. Whitford discussed the various sources from which school moneys are derived and how they are handled. Other interesting subjects he discussed were "Rating Teachers," "Organization," "The Work of the Superintendent," and "Good Teaching."

Textbook Author To Give Talk Here

Mr. P. B. S. Peters, head of the commercial department of Manual Training High School in Kansas City, Mo., and an authority in the field of commercial law, will be here Friday to speak to the classes in commerce.

Mr. Peters will speak to Miss James' class in business correspondence at 7:30 Friday morning. At 11 o'clock Mr. Peters will talk to Mr. Rogers' class in commercial law.

Anyone interested in hearing Mr. Peters should see Mr. Rogers. The lectures will be open to the public. Those interested in commercial law should not fail to hear Mr. Peters as he is a thorough student and authority in the field of commercial law.

Mr. Peters holds the L. L. B. degree and has been admitted to the bar. He is the author of two text books, "Peters Business Speller" and "Peters Commercial Law."

Members of the Kappa Omicron Phi are going to Conception Friday, where they will visit the monastery, College, and Convent.

The art exhibit is the chief attraction but other phases of work related to home economics will be studied.

The committee in charge is Zora Seyster, chairman, Mary Hansel, Cleta McCoy and June Cozine.

The principles of Vitalized Agriculture may be applicable to work in city schools, at least Mabel June Stubbs, who teaches in Oklahoma City, intends to try to carry to and adapt the work in her home town. She intends to try to plan the work in milk testing, insect study and other general phases so as to use them in her grades. Miss Stubbs is a student in Mr. Cooper's course in Vitalized Agriculture.

Vit. Ag. Class Studies Poultry

The class in Vitalized Agriculture is studying poultry this week. Students are interviewing owners as to type and breed of chickens, size of flock, egg production, poultry house, feed, etc. Where it is possible past records are being produced. Mr. Cooper says that the problem is comparing different flocks of the same type and breed to see why some produce a greater number of eggs than others. Some very interesting things are being developed. The ratios of the flocks are being compared with the ratios used in experimental stations. This will be followed up by culling flocks and selecting layers.

Students are doing work in Vitalized Agriculture just as it will be done in schools this fall and winter. Correlation of Vitalized Agriculture with other subjects is being worked out by the class.

"Midnight Express" Coming

The Y. W. C. A. will sponsor a picture show at the College. The picture has not been definitely decided upon yet, but probably "The Midnight Express" will be shown. This is a good railroad story, full of action and mystery. Everyone come and help the girls out.

Former Student Here

Irene Lowry, of Kansas City, Mo., who was graduated in the class of 1925, is visiting in Maryville. Irene will teach next year at Martinsville, Mo. This will be her second year as English teacher at Martinsville.

The members of Pi Omega Pi, honorary commercial fraternity, will meet Friday at 10:15.

The basketball team captained by Connor won the boys tournament that has been in progress this summer by virtue of a 33 to 37 victory over the team captained by Harris.

Tennis Play On

The singles tennis tournament is moving rather slowly and only the third round has been played with three more rounds to play.

Tennis doubles have reached the semi-final stage and next week should see the close of the doubles tournament.

The horseshoe tournament, which was to have been staged last week, has been definitely called off, according to Coach Jones. The reason for this action was that not enough students were interested in this particular branch of sport. The other events are being run off as fast as possible.

5 Candidates Ride Pi Omega Pi "Goat"

Findlay at M. U.

Mr. Foster recently heard from Ganum Findley, a former student here, who is working towards the Masters degree at the University of Missouri this summer.

Ganum says he appreciates the work he had in courses at the College in the help these courses are giving him in his work at the University.

Mayor Speaks on City Managership

W. O. Garrett, Mayor of Maryville, spoke to the Social Science Club Wednesday evening on the city manager plan of government. Mr. Garrett explained the differences between the city manager plan and the aldermanic plan as they had operated in the city of Maryville. He said that in the city manager plan responsibility was fixed and organization was so simplified as to give flexibility in carrying out the city's affairs. He also gave an account of the rise of the city manager plan. Mr. Garrett answered many questions asked by the students.

Mr. Foster had charge of the meeting because of the absence of the club officers. In his opening remarks he said, "Humanity is suffering more from not knowing how to use that which we already have than from not knowing how to gain more material
